

MDR: Managed Detection & Response

Prevent, Detect, and Contain Threats to Your Digital Assets

New Era Technology's Managed Detection and Response (MDR) service maintains optimal security posture by continuously minimizing the attack surface and improving visibility via enhanced monitoring and response. Leveraging defense-in-depth and best-of-breed security technologies, MDR integrates with a multitude of environments.

Deployable at any scale, it provides complete and layered end-to-end security. The transparent subscription model provides predictability of expenditure. The ability to integrate with your existing digital assets offers an added boost to the return on previous investments.

New Era meets data residency and other region-specific needs, ensuring that we can assist customers worldwide. New Era offers a range of other complementary managed services, also supported globally.
